Royal Art Gallery to open for visitors in July

Pramoda Devi Wadiyar takes scribes around renovated Sri Jayachamarajendra Art Gallery; pitches for restoration of other heritage structures.

Mysuru, May 29 (RK&NNN)- The official opening of the fully renovated Sri Jayachamarajendra Art Gallery is slated in the month of July 2019. However, the soft launch of the opening will be done on June 2 during the launch of Srikantadatta Narasimharaja Wadiyar Foundation by Sadhguru Jaggi Vasudev at Jaganmohan Palace auditorium at 6 pm, said Pramoda Devi Wadiyar of the Mysore Royal family.

She was addressing a press conference at the Art Gallery here this morning, after taking the visiting press persons around the Gallery and said that 90 percent of the restoration work of the Art Gallery has been completed.

This is a building which was built in 1861 and hence, the restoration of the nearly 160-year-old structure was a challenge which the dedicated team of heritage experts and workers have achieved, she said.

Protests erupt in city against Cauvery Authority order

Mysuru, May 29 (MTY&DM)- A day after the Cauvery Water Management Authority (CWMA) asked Karnataka to release 9.19 TMC ft (Thousand Million Cubic feet) of water to Tamil Nadu for the month of June, protests erupted in the city, with several organisations staging demonstrations today.

Over 50 members of Karnataka Rajya Raitha Sangha (KRRS) and Hasiru Sene staged a demonstration in front of Mahatma Gandhi's bust opposite the City Law Courts complex.

Terming the CWMA's decision on releasing Cauvery water to Tamil Nadu as a rude shock to Karnataka farmers, the protesters maintained that the water level in KRS Dam had plummeted to a precariously low point and release of water would leave the State in a perilous situation.

Pointing out that the farmers of the State had struggled through severe drought for the past couple of years, with the crops withering, the protesters condemned the CWMA's order and urged the Authority to immediately withdraw the order, which they claimed was catastrophic to the State.

Elders-Youngsters distance

Figuratively or otherwise, even as the huge distance between Planets of the universe is being made to look not as huge as the reality, the distance between the elderly members of the family in particular and society in general seems to have become huge on the mental plane. That distance, being often described as generation gap has diminished the dimension of differences and disagreements between the youngsters and their grandpas and granduncles as the case may be. Life's experiences of the elderly over many decades with the lessons learnt (or not learnt) are not to be ignored according to wise counsels. Carelessness while walking on uneven surface resulting in hurt due to stumbling and sustaining cuts while using sharp knife are common examples of the consequences of trying to learn lessons of life first-hand. Hundreds of fables, proverbs, lyrical lines in Kannada such as the pithy three-liners of 16th century philosopher Sarvajna and the priceless gems of wisdom, Mankuthimmana Kagga, written by D.V. Gundappa (1887-1975), rated as Kannada Bhagavadgita, published in 1943, are often cited by the literati to bring home the messages in the form of life's do's and don'ts as virtual capsules.

The elderly urbanites marked by excellent academic record endowed with the faculty of communicating eloquently keeping august company with their rustic counterparts marked by down-to-earth style of speaking are the assets bequeathed by both to gen next, but no takers in our times. The inter-generation distance between the elderly and the young on counts of daily chores, already considerable at dawn only rises by sundown, leaving the two parties in no frame of mind to barter a friendly deal of give'n'take. To start the elusive distance, the elderly, after a few winks of sleep overnight gets around to go through the paces of morning's ablutions before getting treated to coffee or tea. The piquant scenario of the youngster lazying in bed is disheartening to the elderly, with no option to bear it without a grin. The rest of the day witnesses the youngster busy with various routines, including engagement with laptop, mobile phone and so on reminding the elderly about the wisdom of adhering to the time-honoured principle 'Discretion is the better part of valour,' by looking the other way.

The choice for the two apparently warring parties living under one roof is between harmony in the family or avoidable heated exchanges, the jeans stumping the dhoti in a metaphorical sense. 'East is east, west is west, and never the twain shall meet' fits the generation gap's distance in our times.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

BREATH OF LIFE: What is spirituality? It is most often equated with religion. Whatever the religion that is ours by birth, it encourages us to place our faith in a God who is all-knowing and all-forgiving. It is an injunction that at some point or the other one is likely to question. For instance, how does one justify or pardon a society where the corrupt get away scot-free, where the mediocre rise to power, where those who indulge in wrong-doing live happy lives while the honest and good suffer injustice and die in want and pain? Why does misfortune afflict those who are good? Surely then there is something wrong with the Divine. Or perhaps Divinity is just a man-made myth and the God is neither benevolent nor caring. To believe or not to believe is now the question. — Leela Ramaswamy in Deccan Herald

VOICE OF THE READER

Unsafe practices on busy roads

Sir,

It is being observed regularly that many people are getting down the autos or cars when the vehicles are waiting for the green signal and walking towards the Circle along the road divider blocks (see photo) instead of proceeding towards the footpath and coming to the pedestrian crossing area.

Sometimes people are coming in groups in this fashion. Thus, they are taking chance and putting the drivers of other vehicles at risk. It is against road safety rules. First of all, people are not supposed to get down from the vehicles in the middle of the road or busy traffic. Secondly, even if they get down, they should proceed towards the footpath for their safety and reach the pedestrian crossing.

In addition, some people are jumping even these raised dividers and crossing the road instead of crossing at zebra lines. Public (both pedestrians and drivers) are losing patience to wait for the green signal and jumping the signal even at busy areas, which is not safe.

People should understand that safety is more important than crossing the Road or a Circle! A few seconds or minutes' urgency may end up in an accident, if drivers, who are always in a hurry, are not alert !!

State Govt. gives consent for revival of defunct Falcon Tyres Limited

Bengaluru, May 29 (KMS&SR)- In what could be a good news for employees of ailing Falcon Tyres Limited, State Government has agreed for revival of the defunct factory with the leadership of the Employees Union. A decision to this effect was taken at a high-level meeting chaired by Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy (HDK) held at his Official Residence, 'Krishna' at Bengaluru yesterday, convened to explore the revival of Mysuru-based defunct Falcon Tyres Limited.

Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy, flanked by Mysuru District Minister G.T. Devegowda and Minister K.J. George, during the high-level meeting convened with regard to revival of defunct Falcon Tyres yesterday.

Chief Minister HDK directed the Employees Union to submit the rejuvenation plan proposal to the State Government to take further steps for revival of the factory. A judicial case relating to the factory will come up for hearing in the Court on June 4. The Government will convey its decision of revival plans to protect the larger interest and livelihood of all 3,700 employees of the ailing factory.

Appreciating the Employees Union for coming forward for its revival plan, the CM promised that the State Government would give all guarantee to the Bank to borrow the loan of Rs.120 crore, apart from providing a working capital of Rs.150 crore besides another Rs.20 crore for improvement of infrastructure facilities.

The meeting also decided to constitute the Board of the Management of the Factory.

The meeting was attended by State Large and Medium Scale Industries Minister K.J. George, Higher Education and Mysuru District in-Charge Minister G.T. Devegowda, PWD Minister H.D. Revanna, Additional Secretary to Finance Department I.S.N. Prasad, Principal Secretary to Department of Industries and Commerce Gaurav Gupta, in addition to senior officers and employees' representatives.

The factory, established over four decades ago, was one of the largest two-wheeler tyres and tubes manufacturers in Asia. It may be recalled that the meeting chaired by Large and Medium Scale Industries Minister K.J. George at Bengaluru on Feb.16 last had explored the possibility of establishing a Co-operative Society or Co-operative Union through employees of the factory.

This meeting also discussed the possibilities of raising the money through employee share and also mop-up money through public offers, considering the profitability of tyre companies and also looking at other tyre companies that are making profits and also discussed all other options of reviving the factory.

'Release 9.19 TMCft of water to TN'

Cauvery Water Authority to Karnataka

New Delhi, May 29- The Cauvery Water Management Authority (CWMA), on Tuesday, directed Karnataka to release 9.19 TMCft of water to Tamil Nadu in June.

The Authority, which met on Tuesday for the first time after its establishment in New Delhi, passed the order after taking into account the monsoon forecast and the storage level in the Cauvery Basin reservoirs.

According to the order, Karnataka will have to ensure the release of the specified quantum of 9.19 TMCft at Biligundlu by the end of June.

However, the order is unlikely to have any negative impact on Karnataka if the monsoon arrives in the State as expected in the first or second week of June and the water storage in the State's Cauvery Basin reservoirs is satisfactory.

The meeting was attended by representatives of the Centre and the River Basin States of Karnataka, Tamil Nadu, Puducherry and Kerala.

CWMA Chairman S. Masood Hussain said that with India Meteorological Department (IMD) forecasting a normal monsoon this year, Karnataka should ensure the June Quota of water to the lower riparian State of Tamil Nadu at Biligundlu, the inter-State water gauging centre.

According to the CWMA notification, which was vetted by the Supreme Court, Karnataka has to release a total of 162 TMCft of water to TN from June to May next year, including 10 TMCft in June, 34 in July, 50 in August, 40 in September, 22 in October 15 in November, 8 in December, 3 in January, 2.5 in February, 2.5 in March, 2.5 in April and 2.5 TMCft in May.

Sources in the Water Resource Department said that the four reservoirs in the Cauvery Basin currently have cumulative storage of 14.4 TMCft of water, with KRS at 6.9 TMCft, Hemavathy at 3.5 TMCft, Kabini at 2.9 TMCft and Harangi at 1.1 TMCft.

Reacting to the order, officials said that problems would arise only if the monsoon is delayed or the State receives less than normal rainfall in June.

The Authority, while issuing the order, allayed the fears of Karnataka stating that it would review its order based on inflows to the reservoirs in the Cauvery Basin.

Water Resources Minister D.K. Shivakumar said that the Karnataka Government would have no objection to release the water as directed by the Authority provided the monsoon is good and there is sufficient water in the State's reservoirs.

Asserting that the Government will protect the State's interest and at the same time respect the Authority's direction to release water, the Minister said that legal experts will be consulted before taking any action and added that the Government will convene an all party meeting, if required, to discuss the Cauvery issue.

Farmers oppose Cauvery order

Mandya, May 29- Soon after the Cauvery Water Management Authority (CWMA) asked Karnataka to release water to Tamil Nadu, farmers under the banner of Karnataka Rajya Raitha Sangha (KRRS) staged a Rasta Roko at Mandya in protest against the CWMA order to release 9.19 tmcft of water to Tamil Nadu on Tuesday.

The farmers blocked the busy Mysuru-Bengaluru Highway in front of Sir M. Visvesvaraya statue for sometime, to register their protest.

Terming the CWMA decision as unscientific, the protesters maintained that the order was an onslaught on farmers who are already reeling under severe drought and farm crisis.

Farmers staging a dharna in front of Sir M. Visvesvaraya statue in Mandya to register their protest against Cauvery Water Management Authority order asking Karnataka to release water to Tamil Nadu.

Maintaining that the order was catastrophic to the State, the protesters urged the Authority to withdraw the order.

The agitators were led by KRRS Mandya District President Shamboonahalli Suresh and other office-bearers.

In this week's Pet Talk,
Maneka explains how to handle an abandoned baby bird & about treating bee sting

Pet Talk

Maneka Gandhi

I found an abandoned baby bird in our balcony. It has no feathers. I cannot identify it. How should I treat it?

First task is to identify what type of baby bird is it. Whether it is a nestling or fledgling. A nestling has few or no feathers, and if found on the ground, they need your help. These baby birds are too young to leave the nest and are unable to fly. Fledglings are juvenile birds who have a mix of fuzzy down and adult feathers and are learning to fly. You may come across them hopping along on the ground, perching on low-hanging branches, or hiding under bushes, but as long as they're healthy, just let them be. Healthy fledglings can stand upright and will tuck their wings tightly against their bodies.

If you come across a fallen nestling who isn't injured, shaking, or weak and you can locate the nest, use clean or gloved hands to place the bird back into the nest quickly. If you can't see or reach the original nest, make one out of a small basket, kitchen strainer, or small plastic container with holes punched in the bottom. Ideally the "nest" should be cereal-bowl shaped, well-padded with tissue paper, and of a non-slippery material, otherwise the bird's legs could spread out sideways and become deformed.

Fasten the nest in a sheltered area of the tree closest to the bird's original location, but out of range of any cats or dogs.

Watch quietly for a few hours to make sure that a parent comes back to feed the nestling. If the parent doesn't return, then secure the bird by using clean or gloved hands to place the bird inside a cardboard box lined with paper towels.

While you're working to get help for the animal, keep him or her warm and quiet by placing a heating pad on the lowest setting under half of the box or placing a small hot water bottle inside the box. Then put the box in a closet or another warm, dark, quiet, and safe place, away from people and animals.

Take a picture of the bird and send it to as many wildlife organisations as you know, asking for identification and what food to feed it. In the meantime try mincemeat, worms, small pieces of fruit, like the melon variety, soaked rice or oatmeal. It needs food every hour.

I have got a bee sting. How should I treat it?

Home remedies: 1. Unless you're allergic to bees, or experiencing signs of a severe allergic reaction, you can treat most bee stings at home.

a) If a honeybee stings you, remove the stinger immediately as this helps curb the amount of toxins released into your skin. Wash the sting site with soap and water. Icing the sting site is the most effective way to reduce venom absorption. It also can help reduce swelling.

b) Using Honey - To treat bee stings with honey, apply a small amount to the affected area. Cover with a loose bandage and leave on for up to an hour.

c) Using Baking Soda - Apply a thick layer of paste of baking soda and water to the affected area. Cover the paste with a bandage. Leave on for at least 15 minutes and re-apply as needed.

d) Using Toothpaste - Alkaline toothpaste neutralises acidic honeybee venom. Simply dab a bit on the affected area.

e) Aloevera is known for soothing the skin and relieving pain.

f) Lavender essential oil has anti-inflammatory abilities and can help relieve swelling. Dilute the essential oil with a carrier oil, such as coconut or olive oil. Dab a few drops of the mixture onto the sting site.

g) Cut a potato in half and apply it to the sting site. It should extract the sting.

h) Application of calamine lotion will also help in dealing with the sting.

Although most people do not experience severe reactions to bee stings, it's a good idea to keep an eye on anyone who has been stung, in case they develop more serious symptoms. If you notice any signs of an allergic reaction, or if you or someone you know has been stung multiple times — particularly if he or she is a child — seek medical attention immediately

Hark... the Larks...

Larks, the very name makes one recall the story of 'The Lark & Her Young Ones' studied by all in the Middle Schools, as an English prose in the text books. The moral of the story was to do things when the time is right, neither late nor early.

Larks, the Sparrow-sized birds, resembling the House Sparrow females a lot, are a tribe of close to 28 species in the country and five in our State.

The bird in the picture here, is the Jerdon's Bushlark, with the Ornithological name as Mirafra affinis, a resident bird inhabiting dry and desolate habitats with close proximity to a lake or any small water source. The pasture land are the Larks favourite foraging ground, relishing the insects like crickets, worms, small beetles and the like. Brownish Grey birds, with darker markings on their upper-body with a light coloured underside, merge very easily into the surroundings. One hears a Lark first and then sights it. Their calls, a long drawn... Tweeeee... twitter... tweeeeeee... uttered from a perch on a small shrub, or a stone boulder or even a small clod of earth, is something interesting to watch.

While singing their long drawn calls, they are in fact communicating with other larks in the region. A sort of "I'm here... Where are you?" kind of dialogue between the Larks. Once the calls are answered, the Larks start another ritual, they fly straight up into the air for about 50 feet and then start descending down with open wings like parachutes. This upward flight and parachuting down, gives other Larks the exact location of each other. A wonderful behaviour of communication by sound and sight, shared by no other species.

Larks nest and breed in the grass lands, on the ground making a small cup like depression in the ground and lining it with dried grass fibre. The brood of 3-5 eggs are hatched in about 18 days of incubation and the chicks are fed and raised by only their mother. Father is only a protector. The chicks are fledged at around 3 weeks and they are ready for their life of their own.

Then the Larks life starts again with their high-noon serenades, the upward flight and parachuting down, continuing the lineage and eventually raising their next generation.

Though not endangered at the moment, with grasslands being degraded and utilised for urban expansion, the lakes and waterholes being choked and degraded, it may not be very far from now, before the splendid birds, the Larks vanish.

Save their environment... Save the lakes... You have saved an entire ecosystem... including the Larks.

Art Gallery to open in July

There were four to five or even six layers of paint on the walls and the pillars which had to be peeled off. Only three colours including gold, white and ash colour has been used for the whole building. The wooden beams and pillars which were also painted have now been varnished and they are all gleaming, she said and added that the whole idea was to restore it to its originality. The Gallery is going hi-tech with the installation of CCTV cameras, fire alarm system and audio guides to take the visitors around, she said.

Entry tickets

The price of the entry tickets is likely to be enhanced from Rs.75 to Rs. 125 or Rs.150. After having visited various art galleries, the decision is being taken to hike it without really discouraging the visitors from entering the Gallery. When compared to other galleries, people would happily pay to see some of the finest collections of paintings and artefacts in the world, said Pramoda Devi.

When it comes to the students, there will be definitely concession for them, she added.

The nearly 2,000 paintings and artefacts have been neatly categorised and displayed. Though there are more such artefacts in the storeroom they cannot all be displayed due to lack of space, she said.

Bengaluru-based GN Heritage Matters led by Principal Conservation Architect Sarath Chandra is in-charge of the restoration work and they have toiled day and night to bring it back to its past glory, she said.

Devaraj Market, Lansdowne building

The restoration work of the Art Gallery is an exhilarating experience and I strongly feel that even the Devaraja Market and Lansdowne building, the two iconic heritage structures can be restored to its past glory. If the State Government plans to preserve and conserve both these structures which they should do, then our team of experts will be able to restore them, said Pramoda Devi Wadiyar.

The other heritage structures like the Gun House, Summer Palace, Chamundi Vihar Mansion, Rajendra Vilas Palace, Vani Vilas Ursu Boarding School are all in the process of restoration, she said.

Proposal to State Government

Since the GN Heritage Matters consists of a team of leading heritage experts, the Karikallu Thotti inside the Mysore Palace will also be taken up for restoration. The ceiling and flooring of the magnificent Palace also needs repair and restoration.

The SDN Wadiyar Foundation will be ready to take up the restoration work as the sentiments of these buildings can be understood by the people who have been involved in such work. Hence, a proposal will be prepared shortly and sent to the State Government, Pramoda Devi said.

Madhuvana to be open for tourists

Madhuvana, the burial grounds on Nanjangud Road, where the rulers of Wadiyar dynasty and their family members have been buried, will be cleaned and the landscaping done. The samadhis (tomb stones) of Maharajas will be restored so that the tourists and visitors can dwell into the rich history of the Wadiyars, she said.

On the terror threat to Mysore Palace, she said that there is already a Palace Security team in place with CRPF on standby and if the patrolling is done correctly and screening of visitors strictly, then nothing much needs to be done. Moreover, the awe and immense love visitors have for the Palace will deter any terrorist to strike, she added.

Sri Jayachamarajendra Art Gallery Trust Secretary M. Lakshminarayan, SDN Wadiyar Foundation Secretary Reginald Wesley, Architect Sarath Chandra and others were present at the press meet.

"It's a nostalgic and personal journey for me to reminiscence the past 19 years. The story of Field Marshal K.M. Cariappa

By Dr. S.N. Bhagirath

Many of the top officers were being short-listed by the British to be groomed into future Commanders of the Indian Army with Independence just round the corner. Among these were J.N. Choudary, N.N. Vandu, N.T. Naqvi and K.M. Cariappa. These chosen few were sent to 'Imperial Defence College (IDC)', London, for further training. As luck would have it, General Slim was the Chief of IDC then. The increasing communal tensions in the months leading up to the Partition wore heavily on the minds of these Officers. In order to quell the communal tensions, K.M. Cariappa on his return from England mooted the idea to Nehru and Jinnah not to divide the Army between India and Pakistan, but to keep it status quo. This idea found favour with both Nehru and Mountbatten, but sadly not with Jinnah!

K.M. Cariappa's goal was to keep the Army united for five years after Independence before gradually and slowly dividing it. Sadly this was never accomplished. Instead, on the day of Independence soldiers and officers were given a choice to join either Indian or Pakistani Armies. Cariappa who had recently been made Major General was officially appointed as 'Deputy Chief of General Staff'. He threw a farewell dinner party at the Delhi Gymkhana Club to his Pakistani counterparts, where he raised a toast saying "Au Revoir" (We will meet again) and not "Auld Lang Syne" (Goodbye)! His gesture of goodwill and friendship was sadly not reciprocated by the Pakistan Army.

Towards the end of 1947, General Cariappa was elevated to the rank of Lieutenant General and was appointed as Eastern Army Commander. Just three months down the line, the deteriorating geo-political landscape in J&K made the Government get Cariappa back in Delhi as GOC-in-C. His first action in this capacity was to move the Western Command HQ to Jammu. He decentralised the command for greater penetration and appointed Lt. Gen. Kodandera S. Thimayya as GOC Jammu & Kashmir Force and Atma Singh as GOC of Jammu Division.

K.M. CARIAPPA AND MAHATMA GANDHI

When General K.M. Cariappa met Gandhiji for the first time, he was observing his day of silence at the Birla House. Cariappa who never digressed from his attire is rumoured to have taken off his shoes before entering the Mahatma's chamber. When someone asked later the reason for this, he apparently replied "When one is going to see a Godly person, keeping one's shoes on is mighty disrespectful." In their later meetings, Gandhiji repeatedly broached Cariappa's plans from a military perspective. Cariappa's answer on one such occasion is quite telling — "One War begets another. War must be the last option and even then every conceivable effort must be at hand to stop it !"

MILITARY HISTORY

Sadly just two months after Partition, Pakistan Army sent infiltrators into Baramulla area. The Maharaja of Kashmir on 26th of October, 1947 signed the Instrument of Accession to the Union of India. Indian Army had to be shifted urgently to Srinagar to defend the territory. A lot of delay was caused by both Lord Mountbatten, the Governor General of India and by the PMO's Office in giving a green signal. General Cariappa managed to shift the Indian Army by air in nick of the moment. The Indian Army successfully repelled the attack and drove back the infiltrators. Both General Cariappa and General Thimayya were ready to take back the Pak Occupied portions of Kashmir, but unfortunately Prime Minister Nehru declared ceasefire without consulting his Commanders. During the battle with these razakars, the Indian Army managed to kill 900 of them and this came to be known as 'Operation Kipper.' At this very moment, General Cariappa was transferred to New Delhi away from the theatre of action !

LACK OF POLITICAL WILL

Independent India's first Commander in Chief (C-in-C) was General Sir Robert Lockhart. When Lockhart sent Nehru a plan for modernisation of the Indian Army, Nehru's response was lukewarm. He even remarked that the Army as an institution could be dispensed off and that the Police Force would more than suffice in any emergency! Adding insult to injury, Nehru issued an order to reduce the Army strength from 2,80,000 to 1,50,000! By January 1, 1949 Nehru declared a ceasefire — if not for this abrupt cessation to fighting, General Cariappa was confident of taking back all the lost territories. In spite of this, General Cariappa conducted clandestine covert operations in Ladakh and thus secured it for India. Lockhart was succeeded by Gen. Roy Bucher as the Second C-in-C of the Indian Army.

Railways has violated heritage norms: Tourism Minister Mahesh

SWR DRM Aparna Garg explaining about the development works at the city Railway Station to Tourism Minister S.R. Mahesh and other officials yesterday.

Mysuru, May 29 (YDS&NNN)- The heritage structure of the Mysuru City Railway Station has been expanded but by violating the heritage norms, said Tourism Minister S.R. Mahesh.

The Minister was speaking after inspecting the ongoing development works of the City Railway Station here yesterday and said that the Railway Station is a heritage building and the Government has identified more than 100 such buildings in city. There is a law to conserve these building. For the restoration and development work of the Railway Station, the permission of the Heritage Committee headed by the Deputy Commissioner (DC) must be taken. However, the Railway authorities have not taken the permission from the DC, he said.

When this issue was brought to my notice I had a talk with the Divisional Railway Manager (DRM) and asked her to stop the work till the permission is taken. But they had continued with the work and we could not do anything about it as the Model Code of Conduct was enforced due to Lok Sabha elections, said Mahesh, expressing his disappointment.

If all the owners of the heritage buildings also follow the same way, then the heritage structures will lose their identity. Hence, this violation by the Railway authorities should be viewed seriously, he added.

There is a provision to take action under Town Planning and Municipal Act. However, seeing that this could lead to a confrontation between the State and Central Governments, I requested them to take permission. Hence, we did not take action under this Act. This Act clearly defines how the heritage works should be taken up. MP Pratap Simha must read this Act. We are not opposing the development work, said Mahesh.

This issue will be brought to the notice of the Chief Secretary, following which a meeting will be held and the Chief Minister will also be briefed. Then the future course of action will be decided, he said.

KSTDC MD Kumar Pushkar, Tourism Department Secretary T.K. Anil Kumar, Mysuru DC Abhiram G. Sankar, Police Commissioner K.T. Balakrishna, MUDA Commissioner P.S. Kantharaj, Tourism Deputy Director Janardhan, Heritage Committee Member Prof. S.N. Rangaraju and others were present.

Minister takes DRM to task

Mysuru, May 29- Tourism Minister S.R. Mahesh, upset with the Railway authorities for continuing the development work of the Mysuru City Railway Station in spite of him asking to stop the work, took DRM Aparna Garg to task.

When Mahesh spoke to the media he said that heritage norms had been violated.

In the light of this, a meeting was held at the DRM's Office. When I had earlier inspected, I had asked the work to be stopped till the DC comes and inspects the works. Even then you have continued with the work. Besides, instead of conserving this building you are doing expansion work and violating heritage norms, he told Aparna Garg in a caustic tone.

The DRM, who stood her ground, it is said, shot back at Mahesh and said that even though he had come twice and inspected the building, why he did not object to it then.

Redevelopment works at City Rly. Station not affecting heritage structure: MP

Mysuru, May 29 (RK&NNN)- The redevelopment works of one of the oldest Railway Stations in the country is being done at a cost of Rs. 16.5 crore, without harming its heritage value, said MP Pratap Simha.

Simha, who has been elected for the second time to the Mysuru-Kodgau Lok Sabha Constituency, visited the City Railway Station yesterday afternoon and after inspecting the ongoing works, addressed the media.

Pre-empting the visit of Tourism Minister Mahesh, who came after his visit, Simha said that PM Modi had given 14 Bullet trains to the country. Along with the modernisation of unmanned level crossings, the PM had given hundreds of crores of rupees grants for the redevelopment of old Railway Stations in India.

The Centre is sanctioning Rs.789 crore for building a satellite terminal at Naganahalli. PM Modi has given approval for the setting up of Goods Terminal near Kadakola and for more platforms at Ashokapuram Railway Station, besides other development works, he said.

Since Rs.16.5 crore has been sanctioned for the redevelopment of the city Railway Station, the tiles of the roof which is broken and as a result leaking is being plugged. The works that are going on will provide improved circulating area, widening of approach road and entrance to the station which will reduce traffic congestion but will not impact the heritage structure of the Railway Station, he clarified.

South Western Railway DRM Aparna Garg explained to Simha about the redevelopment works at the Station. Shifting of heritage pillars, redrawing the divider, underground electrical work for proper lighting and illumination and enhancing the parking space are some of the ongoing works. In addition, the Passenger Reservation System has been shifted adjacent to UTS ticketing so that all ticketing is in one place, she added.

'Let him stick to improvement of tourism'

Instead of concentrating on the development works of the Central Government, let him focus on development of tourism in the State, said MP Pratap Simha, without mentioning the name of Tourism Minister.

Speaking after inspecting the works, Simha said that retaining the heritage aspect, the work was being done. However, a few in the name of preserving heritage are causing problems.

The tiles of the roof have broken and leaking. The plastering on the walls has peeled off and if it is being repaired to enhance its beauty, is it damaging the heritage structure? asked Pratap Simha. First let him reduce the taxes for the tourist vehicles entering the city, improve the tourist places and try to attract more visitors, the MP said.

Besides, for the redevelopment work of the Mysuru Railway Station, the Centre has given grants. Let others not interfere, said Simha indirectly taking a dig at Mahesh.

MP seeks Tourism Minister's blessings

MP Pratap Simha, who has been elected for the second time, visited the house of Tourism and Sericulture Minister S.R. Mahesh, who is also Kodagu District in-charge Minister, here this morning and sought his blessings.

Alleged cheating in the guise of getting jobs

Complaint lodged against four persons including ex-Corporator

Mysuru, May 29 (KS)- A girl, alleging that she was cheated to the tune of Rs.12 lakh by four persons including a former Corporator who had taken the money to get a job in Mysuru City Corporation (MCC), has lodged a complaint at K.R. Police Station.

The girl, identified as Yashaswini of Agrahara, has lodged a complaint against Akshath (Yashaswini's cousin), Shekar Babu, Suresh and former Corporator Somasundar. About two years ago, Akshath, who came to Yashaswini's house, reportedly told her that he would get Yashaswini and other job-seekers jobs at MCC as they were educated.

He told them that there were vacancies for jobs at MCC besides stating that he knew former Corporator Somasundar and if they apply for the jobs through him, they would get the jobs. Believing Akshath, Yashaswini told him that she would speak with her family members and get back to him.

According to the complaint, on June 2017, Akshath had asked Yashaswini and other job-seekers to come to a hotel to speak about the jobs. When Yashaswini and other job-seekers went there, they found three more persons including former Corporator Somasundar with Akshath. He (Akshath) introduced the others who accompanied former Corporator as Shekar Babu and Suresh.

The complaint further states that the former Corporator told them (job seekers) that he would get them the jobs and told them that each job would cost them Rs.4 lakh. He (former Corporator) further told them that Akshath, Shekar Babu and Suresh would handle the finance part and added that they would get the appointment orders in six months after they paid the money.

Yashaswini and other job-seekers spoke with the family members and in 2018, they (job seekers) deposited Rs.6 lakh to the account of Akshath and Rs.6 lakh cash was given after calling him (Akshath) to their house. In total, they had given Rs.12 lakh for three jobs.

As there was no word about the job till date, they went to the houses of Shekar Babu and Suresh and enquired during which they denied knowing them and told them that they have not taken any money from anyone. Shocked over this, the girl has lodged a complaint with K.R. Police.

Meanwhile, KR Inspector Narayanaswamy said that a case has been registered based on the complaint and investigation is going on.

> There is no connection between me and the incident. I am not responsible if someone has used my name. I am not that type of person who would take money to get jobs and cheat. I have no information about the complaint. If there is an accusation on me, I would file a defamation case.
> — Somasundar, former Corporator

He further said that the complainant has not said that former Corporator had received the money but has stated that her cousin Akshath had only introduced him at a hotel. The Inspector further said that they would conduct an investigation in this regard and take further action.

WORD OF THE DAY

Pungle

Pronunciation: PUNG-gul.
Meaning: To make a payment or contribution of (money) — usually used with up.
Origin: Pungle is from the Spanish word póngale, meaning "put it down," which itself is from the verb poner, meaning "to put" or "to place," and, more specifically, "to wager" or "to bet." The earliest uses of pungle are from the mid-1800s and are in reference to anteing up in games of chance. It did not take long for the word to be used in other contexts. We find it, for example, in Mark Twain's Adventures of Huckleberry Finn (1884) when Huck's father says: "I'll make [Judge Thatcher] pungle, too, or I'll know the reason why." Nowadays, pungle is mainly used in the western part of the United States.
Example: Residents have been pungling up to send their little league team to the national championship; donations can be made via credit card or PayPal on the town's Sports and Recreation website.

THE ODD WORD

Previse

To foresee or predict an event.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Paint the town red

Meaning: To engage in a riotous spree.

Origin: The expression 'paint the town red' is often said to have originated in the country town of Melton Mobray, England. This could be correct but there's no conclusive evidence to confirm that view. Most early examples of the phrase in print come from the USA. The actual origin is unknown. The allusion being made in the expression 'paint the town red' is to the kind of unruly behaviour that results in much blood being spilt. There are several suggestions as to the origin of the phrase. The one most often repeated, especially within the walls of the Melton Mowbray Tourist Office, is a tale dating from 1837. That is when the Marquis of Waterford and a group of friends are said to have run riot in the Leicestershire town of Melton Mowbray, painting the town's toll-bar and several buildings red. That event is well documented, and is certainly in the style of the Marquis, who was a notorious hooligan. To his friends he was Henry de la Poer Beresford; to the public he was known as 'the Mad Marquis'. In the Oxford Dictionary of National Biography he is described as 'reprobate and landowner'. His misdeeds include stealing, breaking windows, fighting duels and, last but not least, painting the heels of a parson's horse with aniseed and hunting him with bloodhounds.
